PROGRAM: ARRL Kids Day, and engaging the younger generation – Mike Isakson K7XH

Mike explained a bit of his early background when his grandfather was a ham, but although Mike was interested, he didn't get the encouragement and opportunity to pursue his interest until years later. He has recently joined the Club and had mixed experiences with his initial contacts, but elected to press on and found some friends among us.

The general point was that younger (and newer) folks need some positive responses and engagement to get involved in our hobby.

This background has caused him to get involved with the process of engaging younger folks to get interested and involved.

The bottom line is That Mike has stepped up to manage the January 3rd Kids Day program to include seeking opportunities to bring younger folks into the clubhouse to encourage their participation in this great hobby.

To explore engaging the schools in developing ham stations and operators

He is seeking Club and others to support for this project.

Regarding Proposed Changes to Bylaws

The notes below were submitted by the Ad Hoc Bylaws Review Committee to the Club Officers, Directors, and Members for full consideration at the December 9, 2015 General Meeting. Full text of the changes were mailed with a ballot to each Club member so entitled to vote.

The ad hoc committee to advise on bylaws revision, comprised of Larry Watson, Peter Baker and George Salisbury, has reviewed the RCT Bylaws and offers, as a consensus, the following suggested amendments to the current RCT Bylaws. Strikethrough text represents deletions; [square brackets], insertions of new wording. While some suggestions may appear trivial, striving for the "cleanest" version at this point seems prudent. These notes preceding the marked-up copy of the current Bylaws suggest reasons that may justify the changes

1. Section ONE (B) Family membership. There is no sociological position (regarding status of an individual within a family) relevant to this section; rather, with a Full or Senior membership already representing a family as its "sponsor," a monetary break for others in that residence is in the spirit of the original wording.
2. Section ONE (E) Special Membership "they" is not grammatically correct ("agreement in number") – should be "he or she3."
3. Section TWO (A) Membership fee determination In reining in the deadline for dues payment in the following subsection (B), adjustment must be made in this subsection to allow for timely announcement of renewals and of any change of dues rates.
4. Section TWO (B) DUE DATE. Wording changes are both semantic and pragmatic: the dues should be paid by date certain, but practically the date gets missed at times. Nevertheless, in keeping with the Radio Club of Tacoma calendar year, the dates need to be changed to eliminate the artificial "fiscal year" for membership which has developed.
5. Section TWO (H) Senior Membership. New wording clarifies the reckoning date for eligibility.
6. Section FOUR (H) Voting Members Technically excludes seniors as it stands
7. Section FIVE (E) Secretary. The duties highlighted here are redundant with those of the Property Manager(s) and are neither currently performed by the Secretary, nor need be.
8. Section FIVE (F) (4) Makes bond optional.
9. Section FIVE (G) (1) The Treasurer should not be burdened with budgetary matters properly subsumed under specific committee heads' responsibilities; rather, the various committee heads should provide the data to the Treasurer so that he may present a composite to the Board.
10. Section SIX (C) Parliamentary Procedure Strengthens the logic (a case may exist where the rule is inconsistent with one but not the other – a NAND case)
11. Section SEVEN (A) Standing committees. While a standing committee functions properly, its existence is justified. When it becomes dysfunctional or non-functional it should be disbanded. Rather than the Board assuming responsibilities of the committee, it should see to the establishment or revival of necessary committees.
12. Section SEVEN (1) (A) (1) Membership. There has been no functioning committee as such for a long time. The chairman solicits help on an as-needed basis.
13. Section SEVEN (1) (A) (2) Emergency Operations. A plan was previously developed. There is little need (and seemingly less interest) in a standing committee.
14. Section SEVEN (3), (4), (6) – (paragraphs moved) Attending comments are self-explanatory.
15. Section EIGHT (A) (5) Suggested changes leave the possibility open while removing a mandate that is largely ignored.
16. Section EIGHT (E) (4) ditto
17. Section NINE (D) Changes necessary to correctly identify versions after revision approval.

Guest ColumnKids are Not the Future of Ham Radio*By Bob Witte, K0NR

You've heard it a million times: our kids are the future. That statement gets applied to almost everything, including amateur radio. How can you argue with an obvious fact like that?

But I am starting to think it is incorrect.

We've had really good success on creating new hams of all ages in our Technician License Class (at the Tri-Lakes Monument Radio Association). We've been doing this for a while now and I think I am seeing a pattern emerge. We've been able to attract middle schoolers to the class and help them get their ham radio license. I've talked to many of them on the air. They've helped out with public service events. They seem to have fun playing with radios.

Then this thing called high school happens. The high school phase in the US is filled with tons of stuff to do: studying, homework, AP classes, science competitions, sports, dating, movies, driving and after school jobs. Way too much stuff. Ham radio starts to take a backseat to these normal high school activities. Then we don't see the kids at the radio club meetings or chatting on the local repeater because they are busy doing other things. Have we lost them forever? Not sure.

High school is often followed by college which has its own set of challenges: a totally new environment, away from home, a new set of people, new studies, etc. There might be a ham radio club on campus but maybe not. If a kid is not off to college they are (hopefully) out doing something to establish themselves in this world. Eventually they emerge on the other side, get a job, get themselves established, sometimes with a spouse and maybe a kid or two. By this time they are 25 to 30 years old, depending on the individual.

I recently posted about the demographics of our students in the Tech License Class (<http://www.k0nr.com/wordpress/2015/10/where-are-the-new-technicians-coming-from/>). The chart on the following page shows the age distribution of our students from our most recent class. Hmmm, clearly most of our students are 30 or older. (Sorry, we have not collected age data with finer resolution.) This particular class is light on the under 18 crowd...sometimes we have a clump of kids in the mix.

For whatever reason, it seems that most people find themselves in a situation as an adult that causes them to say "I want to get my ham radio license." When asked why they want to get their ham license, the top response is always emergency/disaster communications, followed by back-country communications, pursuing electronics as a hobby and learning about radio communications. I suspect that starting to be established in a community and having some disposable income also play a role.

My hypothesis is that the most effective way of growing a vibrant ham radio community is to target adults ages 25 to 40.

This age range is more equipped and ready to be ham radio operators and are still young enough that they will be around for a while. Of course, we still want to work with all age groups, including kids and retirees. We've all seen very young hams get the bug for ham radio early and carry it throughout their life. And we also see plenty of older folks get interested in the hobby as they approach or enter retirement. We don't want to miss out on either of those groups.

So that's my read on the situation. I've got some data to support my theory but I can't really prove it. What do you think? What are you seeing in your ham radio community?

Bob Witte, K0NR, blogs about amateur radio at K0NR.Com. You can find this post at <http://www.k0nr.com/wordpress/2015/11/kids-not-the-future/>. You can e-mail him at bob@k0nr.com. He is also on Twitter: @K0NR.
